Plasmat is an experimental electronic music project by Mattia Pirrone. His sounds influenced by different experiences, ranging from black metal to electro-punk, drum'n'bass from all IDM evolved after a music research continues, until the current style. "Morphine" is the second excellent EP released on Nostress Netlabel, a new work that collects four songs that evoke distinct moods, a long journey towards the origin of the world, the dance of the planets, the voice of the earth, the deep gaze of a sadhu and the intense smell of incense. Featuring a sound between the ambient and electronic, "Morphine" is the drug of detachment created for the listener away from contemporary mediocrity.
